Card 'fiddler' left employer in debt

Hazel counts out after 38 years

A BANK employee who started work in the era of pounds, shillings and pence has stepped down for a well-earned rest after almost four decades behind the counter. On Monday, Hazel Cowan said goodbye to her colleagues at HSBC bank in High Street, Haverhill, where she has worked for the past 38 years. Mrs Cowan started work at the bank after leaving Haverhill Secondary Modern, and has stayed there ever since.

She said: "I did not even want to go into banking, my maths teacher said: 'I have got you an interview' and just took me down there. "I had no qualifications, but the bank manager gave me the job because he liked me. "I have really enjoyed meeting people, I love a chat. I have seen three generations of some families, people who have had children and then their children have come in too." She added: "Things have changed a lot, it was still pounds, shillings and pence when I started. You had to be able to add up because there were no machines or calculators in those days. It was all paper work, with hand-written cheque books and we had to type out statements." Mrs Cowan, 55, who lives at West Wickham, is taking early retirement and hopes to spend more time gardening and metal detecting. She has been married to Mick since 1972.

AN ASSISTANT who left her employers in debt after stealing more than £23,000 from the shop where she worked has been jailed.

Janie Russell left the owners of Haverhill's Londis store facing the need for a bank overdraft and having to work extra shifts to pay back the missing cash, Ipswich Crown Court heard.

Fraudster Russell, who took just over three weeks to steal the money, was jailed for 18 months. She was also told that an insurance payout she was due to receive for a road accident will now be used to help compensate her victims.

Judge John Holt told the 30-year-old that after finding a way to fiddle a Paypoint machine used to charge debit cards, Russell used two cards to steal a total of £23,050 between June 9 and July 2.

Mr Sadd said as small business operators, the couple who owned the store soon spotted that something was wrong and confronted Russell who admitted what she had done, which led to her arrest.

Russell, of Park Lane, Cambridge, pleaded guilty to seven offences of fraud and asked for a further 65 similar offences to be taken into consideration.

The theft had placed the owners of the shop in considerable difficulties and as a result they had incurred the additional costs of an overdraft to cover the missing money.

Guy Holland, appearing for Russell, said she had admitted the offences immediately and no-one else had been involved. He added: "There was no sophistication in what she did".

TWO history societies with special anniversaries this year are the latest groups to boost the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal.

Haverhill and District Local History Group is celebrating its 35th anniversary and the Haverhill Family History Group its 25th anniversary.

To mark the occasion a Past Times exhibition is being staged by the two groups at Haverhill Arts Centre from Thursday, October 30 to Saturday, November 1, open from 10am to 4pm.

Entry is free, but donations are invited with funds going towards our £40,000 appeal for the hospice to provide services for people in the Haverhill area in their own homes.

Alan Bumpstead, chairman of the Family History Group, said: "My parents have not had to use the hospice, but the fact that it is there for the whole community is something we should all support."

"Your appeal has raised the profile of it and the Hospice at Home Appeal is something we would very much like to support. It is something we tend not to think about until we need it."

The anniversary exhibition will include a display of local history and family trees, and visitors are invited to bring along their own mementoes to show the experts as well as take advantage of their advice to find their own roots.

Local traders have already got behind the groups by displaying some nostalgic items in their shop windows.

Mr Bumpstead's father Roy, 89, has temporarily returned his 1950s television and stand for display at Chapmans in the High Street, where it was originally bought.

Mr Bumpstead said his father, a former head gardener on the Vestey estate at Thurlow, paid 67 guineas for the set, around seven weeks' wages at the time.

MJ Pipe in Queen Street, meanwhile, will display a 1930s Hoover which belonged to Mr Bumpstead's late aunt, and there will be a wash stand on show at Glasswells and other items at Ellis Bakery and Morleys.

Further joint celebration events are planned with the Haverhill Local History Group, including a performance of the Bumpstead Boys on Wednesday, November 26, at the Haverhill Arts Centre.

For more information about the group, contact Alan Bumpstead on (01440) 704157.

How can you help hit the target?

WE CANNOT reach our target without your help – so the Weekly News wants to hear from anyone who is organising fund-raising discos, barbecues, dances or other events to boost the hospice appeal.

Tell us what you are planning and we will help publicise your event to make sure it is a success and raises as much money as possible. If you already have an event organised, why not pledge all or part of the proceeds to the appeal and benefit from the extra publicity to help a really good cause.

A special bank account has been set up at Barclay's Bank. Cash or cheques can be paid in directly to the St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, sort code 201612, account number 80981842.

An on-line donations page has also been created at www.justgiving.com/haverhillweeklynews, which also gives details of how to donate by text, and you can donate by phone on (01284) 715582, at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, or the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Haverhill.

Report gives hospital clean bill of health

STAFF at West Suffolk Hospital are celebrating earning an "excellent" rating for the quality of services they provide – two years in a row.

In the Healthcare Commission's annual health check, the trust scored an "excellent" for quality of services and a "fair" for its use of resources, an improvement on last year's "weak" rating.

Chris Bown, trust chief executive, said: "We are absolutely delighted that the high quality of care we offer to our patients has been recognised by the commission for the second year running."

"This rating puts us among the top 26 per cent of performers nationally, which is great news for our patients as it shows they are receiving some of the best healthcare in the country. It is also something of which our staff, who work extremely hard to provide the best possible services for patients, can be justifiably proud."

"But we will not become complacent and will continue to work hard to maintain our excellent rating next year and improve on our financial performance still further."

"These scores show that all the hard work we have put into key areas such as infection control is paying off. Our financial situation has also improved significantly."

In the health check, the hospital scored maximum points for safety and cleanliness, public health and standards of care. The trust also did particularly well for the dignity and respect shown to patients and its good management, scoring close to the maximum.

In its report, the commission's officers said: "West Suffolk Hospital NHS Trust continued to provide an excellent quality of service to patients, having made significant improvements after the first year of the annual health check."

Council looks to the past for new housing options

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

WHERE can 3,000 new homes be built in Haverhill over the next two decades? That's the question planners have put to local residents.

They have been urged to give their views in the second stage of consultation for St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Local Development Framework, which will shape how St Edmundsbury will develop over the next 23 years.

The Government's Regional Spatial Strategy for the East of England has earmarked a further 8,000 homes to be built in the borough by 2031.

After putting forward five options in the first round of consultation, the council has put forward its preferred option, which would see a maximum of 40 per cent of these homes built in Bury St Edmunds, at least 40 per cent in Haverhill and the remaining 20 per cent in the surrounding rural areas.

A detailed list of sites nominated by developers, planners and landowners is also up for discussion.

In Haverhill three possible areas have been put forward: the biggest is a site of around 68 acres on the north-east edge of the town, extending beyond Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College and Chalkstone Way; the second site, of around 60 acres, is on the western edge of the town and would include land already allocated for a business park at Hanchett End; and the third is a 34-acre site on the northern edge of Haverhill which would extend the area recently developed off Withersfield Road.

Clare, Kedington and Wickhambrook are identified as locations where most rural development would be centred and sites were identified in each as well as in other villages.

Ian Poole, policy development manager for St Edmundsbury, said all proposals were being put forward for discussion at this stage and it was important that people made their views known. He said: "There are very few sites in Haverhill for brownfield development."

"Landowners were invited to put forward sites and quite a few did in Bury St Edmunds, but not in Haverhill. So we have referred back to the 1990s Buchanan study to put forward sites ourselves."

"This is an information gathering exercise, it is not the council saying we prefer a particular option."

"Development will be a mix of employment, business and housing, not just blocks of housing. We are trying to get a better balance in Haverhill so that the town is more sustainable and there is less commuting to Cambridge."

The proposals can be viewed online at <http://stedsbconsult.limehouse.co.uk> from November 5. The deadline for feedback is January 5, 2009.

A Wii bit of fun on way for pensioners

DAY centre visitors aged up to 100 will soon be proving that you are never too old to play computer games.

Members of Haverhill Ladies Circle paid a visit to the Haverhill Day Centre in Camps Road on Tuesday to hand over a Nintendo Wii system with extra controls and games, worth more than £200.

Susannah Johns, co-ordinator at the centre said they were extremely grateful to the Ladies Circle members and intended to invite them back to take part in a competition once the system was set up.

She said: "We were starting to raise money to buy one when the Ladies Circle got in touch to say they had some money and asked what we would like."

One of our ladies had been to her son's house and her grandson had one so she had a go on it. She is 74 and in a wheelchair, but she could still play it and said it was really good.

"You can just sit there and play it even if you are in a wheelchair and you can still use one arm to play even if you have had a stroke. "We heard that the fitness games are really good too for all ages and we thought they would help some of our clients to keep mobile."

The centre is open from Tuesday to Friday from 9am-4pm and caters for around 44 people a week, including those with learning disabilities, Alzheimer's and disabilities.

Fighting the flu with jab

PEOPLE are being urged to take up the offer of a flu jab this winter.

As the Department of Health launches its seasonal campaign, the Health Protection Agency (HPA) East of England is urging those eligible to take advantage of the free jab.

Dr Pat Nair, consultant in communicable disease control with the HPA's Norfolk, Suffolk and Cambridgeshire health protection unit, said: "Don't take a risk with your health. If you meet the criteria for flu vaccination, make sure you make an appointment with your GP to get one."

"People aged 65 and over are particularly at risk, whether they are otherwise healthy, or if they live in residential care homes."

"Flu vaccination is also strongly recommended for people of any age with chronic illnesses such as diabetes and asthma."

"Influenza is much worse than a bad cold. It is associated with the deaths of around 3,000 to 4,000 people each year in the UK."

"Once the flu virus starts circulating in the community we will begin to see cases, particularly in people for whom flu jabs are recommended, so if you should have one make sure you get one."

Insurance cash goes to store owners

■ From Page 1

Russell, now unemployed, accepted that compensating the shop owners was of paramount importance, but at present the only assets available to make payment amounted to £5,687. She had previously paid back £1,000.

Judge Holt told her: "You were fully aware of a method of fiddling the card payment system and you exploited that on a massive scale."

"Your offending caused the business to go into the red. It has managed to survive but only because of the hard work of the husband and wife who run the business."

"They are not out of the woods yet. No only have they lost the money you stole but they had to pay significant overdraft charges."

The court heard that Russell had been awarded an £11,500 personal injury settlement after her moped was involved in a collision with a lorry in 2006.

Judge Holt ruled that the payment should instead go towards compensating the shop owners for their loss.

Chinese charm offensive

POLITICS students had some searching questions to ask Chinese Ambassador Madam Fu Ying when she visited their school. MP Richard Spring accompanied Madame Fu on a visit to Castle Manor Business and Technology School in Haverhill where they were greeted by headteacher Madeleine Vigar and Haverhill Town Mayor Cllr Les Ager. They were shown round the school and held a discussion with sixth form politics students. Madam Yu was asked about the effects of the current banking crisis on China, the lack of democracy in the country, the effect of the Beijing Olympics and on being China's first woman ambassador. Madam Fu said China had huge investments in the US and was also very dependant on demand for products from the UK and US, with a drop in orders leaving many companies facing bankruptcy. She added: "We are more prudent in controlling our banks and if you want to buy a house you need at least a 30 per cent deposit, sometimes even 70 per cent. We are just starting on industrialisation, you are 100 years ahead of us. The West really needs to sort out the problem and set a good example." Madam Fu sparked outrage among human rights groups when she wrote an article in the Daily Telegraph criticising the media for "demonising" China and claiming she and many young Chinese people were "hurt" by "inaccuracies" in stories about unrest in Tibet and other issues which reflected badly on their country. She said: "China will move towards democracy. There are huge corruption problems, but China will address these problems in its own way. Different systems work in different countries. "When we are portrayed as a suppressed, totalitarian society it is very hard to accept. I think the Olympics really helped to increase understanding between us, it has helped humanise western people for Chinese citizens and show them that we are all the same human beings and not everyone is against us."

More vehicle crimes linked

POLICE are linking another spate of thefts and repeating warnings to motorists, after three more vehicles were broken into on the same night in Haverhill.

A green Renault people carrier's window was smashed and a sat nav system and cash was stolen, when it was left parked at Seymour Drive between 6pm on Monday, October 13, and 7am Tuesday, October 14.

Between 8.30pm that night and 7.30am the next morning, thieves also broke into a silver Toyota Yaris parked on Seymour Drive and stole two sat nav systems and a handbag.

And between 9pm on the Monday and 7.30am on the Tuesday, thieves smashed a window of a white Mercedes Sprinter van parked on Cramswell Close and stole a sat nav system.

Police are linking these three crimes to two previously reported break-ins in Cramswell Close and Henry Close on the same night.

Calls in relation to these incidents should be made to Pc Carl Brandwood at Haverhill police on 01284 (774100) or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Park trail offers tricks and treats

A DELICIOUSLY creepy Halloween'en Trail awaits visitors to a town park on Friday, October 31, as a nerve-jangling collection of spooks and ghouls lurk in the undergrowth and loiter behind the trees.

Haverhill Town Council invites everyone along to the East Town Park in Coupsals Road for the annual free, family event, which takes place between 7pm and 8.15pm.

There is no need to book in advance, just turn up in fancy dress (optional) with sensible footwear and torch if you have one. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Head injury blamed for thief's prolific record

A DRUG addict who committed 73 offences over the past 10 years may have started his spree because of a head injury which changed his character, a court has heard.

Judge John Holt told Liam Darby while he had "immense sympathy" for the injury he had suffered at the age of 14, he had to jail him for three years because he had a duty to protect the public.

Darby, 24, admitted a string of offences at Haverhill, which were uncovered after police caught him red-handed breaking into a parked car.

He was spotted by two officers on bicycle patrol in the town centre during the early hours of April 9, sitting inside a Rover Metro car with a broken window, clutching a screwdriver and a set of keys, Ipswich Crown Court heard on Monday.

Robert Sadd, prosecuting, said a search of Darby's home at Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, recovered a set of keys which had been stolen in a break-in, along with items from burglaries in Culford Drive and Gainsborough Road, Haverhill, two nights earlier, including bank cards and keys.

Police also found a Renault car handbook and a pair of sunglasses stolen from a car parked in Haverhill and were able to link Darby to an attempt to steal from a Land Rover when the canvas rear cover was cut open.

Mr Sadd said Darby used unsecured back doors in his two previous night time burglaries. At the address in Culford Drive police found a footprint matching that of Darby.

Darby admitted two counts of burglary as well as theft, attempted theft, handling stolen goods and going equipped for theft.

Judge Durr, for Darby, said that while the offences were serious, none of the items stolen had great sentimental or financial value.

He said Darby had suffered a serious head injury, and survived a resulting condition which normally kills two thirds of sufferers. He said Darby's later illegal drug use may have, in some way, resulted from this injury.

Mr Durr said Darby was now anxious to get help for his drug problems and wanted to join an intensive three month course in prison, adding: "He expresses a wish to leave prison drug free, find accommodation and then find employment."

Noting Darby's 28 previous court appearances, Judge John Holt said: "This offending is all part of a pattern. It could well be that your injury then caused the change in your character that has caused this offending but we are now 10 years on and I must put protection of the public as my prime concern."

Team marks 15 years

A LOCAL firm of accountants and business advisers is celebrating 15 years in business.

Paul Donno and Co Ltd was started by Paul Donno in 1993 and now has a portfolio of more than 300 clients.

Mr Donno attributes the firm's success to a number of factors, the most important being the way the company communicates with clients.

He said: "We believe it is really important to talk to people about their business finances in a down-to-earth and straight forward way.

"Our philosophy is to offer real, practical advice and to be accessible to our clients. If they have a problem or concern in their business then we want them to know that we are here to help, our willingness and friendliness have been key factors in our success."

Paul Donno & Co Ltd became accredited as an Investor in People in 2006, reflecting the importance and value that the company places upon its team.

Cash bonus goes back into business projects

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

SMARTER shop fronts and more support for people being made redundant are among the projects set to be funded from a £1.5m council cash boost to help the local economy through "difficult times".

Businesses across St Edmundsbury will benefit from more than £1.5 million, which St Edmundsbury Borough Council (SEBC) will use to fund various projects.

The bulk of the money comes from the Government's Local Authority Business Growth Incentive Scheme (LABGI), which rewards local authorities in accordance with the economic growth of their area by allowing them to retain revenue increases derived from business rates.

St Edmundsbury has a strong economic profile and has received £1,174,417 in the past three years.

The council also hopes to invest £445,000 from the sale of the Vision Centre in Bury St Edmunds in revitalising its employment units in Hollands Road, Haverhill.

Projects whose benefits will be delivered borough-wide include a £100,000 bursary and training fund to unlock further funding for new business growth.

A total of £70,000 will be spent on training initiatives to be delivered by Mid Anglian Enterprise Agency (Menta), which will address difficulties faced by businesses now and in the next six months, including advice for people made redundant or starting a new business.

This will see a newly-equipped training room in the council's Menta units in Hollands Park.

A new business competition will be established with £61,000 to fund substantial discounts on new units in the incubation centre at Suffolk Business Park, in Bury St Edmunds, which is due to be completed in October 2009.

Town centres will also gain. In Haverhill, a scheme to help retailers improve their shop fronts will receive £25,000, which will be matched by Suffolk County Council. The work is part of a major facelift for the main shopping area which is currently under way.

Cllr Nigel Aitkens, borough council cabinet member for economy and asset management said: "St Edmundsbury is among a minority of councils in the country to re-invest this money in the way that it was actually intended - to improve the economic prosperity of our area."

"Now that it is becoming more apparent how businesses will be affected by the current economic conditions, we are allocating the funding to support as broad a range of enterprises as possible, to maintain a thriving and vibrant economy throughout these difficult times."

Group digs in for a golden spring

A HOST of golden daffodils will greet people arriving in Haverhill next spring after a bumper crop of 18,000 bulbs was planted this week. Organisers of the town's Haverhill in Bloom Committee provided the bulbs, which were planted in visible spots off Withersfield Road, close to the junction with Howe Road, and Wrattling Road close to the junction with Ann Sucking Lane and Sturmer Road. The bulbs came from Holland and were planted with a special machine devised by the Dutch growers which cuts into grass without damaging it and replaces the turf over the top. Caroline Brown, St Edmundsbury Borough Council's area parks manager, supervised the planting and said it was intended to create some spring colour and show that people cared about their town. The Haverhill in Bloom Committee is run by volunteers who give up their time to enhance the town and organise spring and autumn gardeners' markets. They are always looking for more members and anyone willing to help should call Valerie Morton on (01440) 709099.

WIN AN AIRFIX MODEL SET

Airfix has linked up with the Weekly News to give away 10 gift sets of the new Duxford Collection worth £24.99 each, celebrating the 90th anniversary of the now legendary aviation museum and airfield.

Duxford was operational from 1918 and grew to be one of the main bases for the RAF before the outbreak of the Second World War. It is now established as the European centre of aviation history and regular world renowned air shows combine to create a unique museum where history really is in the air.

The three models in the Airfix set represent the three main fighters flown from the base during the key years of the war: the Spitfire, Hurricane and Mustang. The gift set includes glue (Humbrol precision poly cement), paint brushes and 12 Humbrol acrylic paints essential for any enthusiast looking for detailed perfection.

Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College, in Haverhill, hosted the event, which was open to anyone interested in pursuing a new career or starting a career – whether young or older, families or individuals. More than 20 companies attended, with information about working in hospitals, the armed forces, the chemical industry, retail, care work, public services such as fire, police, ambulance and further education training from local colleges.

A spokesman for the college said: "We had a really good day with lots of employers taking part and all our children benefiting from their experience and advice."

Chamber proposal

BUSINESS-MINDED pupils are to form Haverhill's second Young Chamber group. Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College successfully developed Suffolk's first Young Chamber last year. Now the Young Chamber is working with Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College to develop another branch, which will be launched during this year's Enterprise Week in November. An event to encourage businesses to work with the students will be held on Thursday, November 20 at 1pm at Days Inn, Haverhill, and is being supported by Haverhill Chamber of Commerce. Matt Bryant, business and citizenship co-ordinator at Castle Manor, said the Young Chamber would encourage students to be more engaged with business and enterprise.

Kebab attacker gets jail warning

A BUILDER suffered a fractured skull and a massive blood clot on his brain which needed five hours of emergency surgery after being attacked in the street, a court has heard.

Daniel Batt, 27, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court charged with wounding with intent against Paul Fitch, but a jury found him not guilty of this charge after a three day trial.

However, he was convicted of a less serious charge of causing grievous bodily harm to Mr Fitch, 40.

Batt, of Chimney Street, Hundon, had his case adjourned for pre-sentence reports to be prepared and Judge John Holt warned him that all sentencing options were open, including prison.

A second man has already admitted his part in the attack and is also awaiting sentence.

The court heard that Mr Fitch was standing at a kebab van in Haverhill High Street on Saturday, July 21, last year when he became involved in an argument with Batt. Batt squared up to Mr Fitch and threw a punch which knocked him to the ground.

While Mr Fitch was on the ground it was alleged that he had been kicked or his head stamped on by Batt's co-defendant. Batt was cleared of kicking Mr Fitch in the head, but convicted of hitting him in the mouth and knocking him to the ground.

The jury was told Mr Fitch had suffered a fractured skull and a blood clot measuring 2cm by 5cm on his brain and underwent five hours of surgery, as well as having to have 30 staples inserted in his head.

Waste tank plan

Uplifting music class

HEAVENLY sounds filled a Haverhill middle school when 50 pupils took part in a workshop run by the London Community Gospel Choir.

Choir member Travis Cole and keyboard player Howard Francis spent an afternoon teaching pupils at Parkway Middle School about the history of gospel music.

The duo also taught them well-known gospel songs such as Swing Low Sweet Chariot, Down By The Riverside and Ain't Nobody.

The workshop finished with a short concert for fellow pupils, giving the singers an opportunity to show off their new-found vocal skills.

Music subject leader David Maguire said: "The workshop was a one-off opportunity. It gave the pupils at Parkway the chance to work with, and learn from members of one of the best gospel choirs in the world."

"The children were so enthusiastic and the singing that they produced throughout the afternoon was amazing. Some pupils were even brave enough to sing solos!"

"Hopefully this workshop has shown the children that singing can be exciting and uplifting, as well as lots of fun."

Accidents not all speed related

Sir, Regarding the high visibility signs erected beside the A1307, I am of the opinion that they will serve more purpose than a knee-jerk reaction appeal for speed cameras.

It is said that speeding is involved in a third of all accidents. This is not true.

What the Government actually claims is that a third of accidents are speed related. This is not the same thing. For example, if a driver misjudges the speed of an approaching vehicle and pulls out in front of it, causing a collision, this is regarded as speed related, but might not involve anyone breaking the speed limit.

The same thing applies if one car runs into the rear of another. If the second car had been going more slowly, the argument goes, the collision might not have occurred, so it counts as speed related.

If a driver loses control on an icy road and crashes, it is counted as speed related, because he might not have lost control had he been going more slowly. If a motorcyclist skids on split diesel and comes off, for some reason it also counts as speed related. And so it goes on.

As for excessive speed itself, this is said to be responsible for just 7.3 per cent of accidents, and that includes speed that was excessive for the prevailing conditions, but which might have been below the posted speed limit (Transport Research Laboratory report TRL323).

From what I understand, even the police are saying that speed is not a factor. There appears to be no pattern to these accidents at all. One, I seem to remember, even involved a drunk lying down in the road in the early hours of the morning in the hope of stopping traffic and getting a lift home. What I would like to see is regular in-depth reports of the inquests into these deaths. Unfortunately, while I see pages devoted to the actual incidents, the inquests seem rarely to be reported. If members of the public are not fully informed of the result of these enquiries, it is unfair to expect them to form an opinion as to what should be done.

Children should face disciplinary action

Sir, Regarding your article about the Meads boy.

It angers me greatly that parents do not seek to educate their children to respect others so that their children do not need to be removed from the classroom to exclusion zones. If the mother is so concerned about human rights perhaps she should look at the fact that "every child has a right to education" without being disrupted.

As the mother of a child at Castle Manor I am aware of the disruptive and bullying behaviour. If my children misbehave at school, like hers, they should suffer the consequences of their actions.

Grey room has helped improve student marks

Sir, After reading the news article regarding Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College's grey room (School's 'isolation room' angers mum - Weekly News, October 16), I write to pledge my support to Castle Manor and to the work being done there.

As a former student at the college and one who has sat in the grey room - or "students services" as it was formerly known - I can say the room is not there to make a student suffer, or to take away their rights of education. It is there to make a student reflect on any bad behaviour and to ponder on the consequences of one's actions.

It is also there to promote the value of appearance and that students should stick to the strict guidelines of uniform, jewellery and personal appearance. The grey room merely acts as a solution to excluding students and allows the school to clamp down on bad behaviour. It is a punishment which a student will look at before possibly undertaking bad behaviour. In the olden days, this was corporal punishment, so students of the current era are getting off lightly being stuck in a grey room rather than being whipped round the knuckles.

It is good teaching for later life and promotes discipline and value. No one wants to be in isolation, but if this is the way to teach good, proper manners and self-respect and self discipline then it makes it a good practice.

Castle Manor is making sure that disruptive students are not harming the education of others.

The parent in the article who argued that this was "inhumane" should ask themselves the question: "If children are being disrupted in their education, would they not want the offenders punished for restricting their own child's learning?"

The grey room looks a horrible place but this certainly will give students food for thought when misbehaving in class.

When I was the misbehaving student, long ago, if I was placed in Student Services, I was there to be punished and to miss the luxury of not being with friends in class. I then remembered that I wouldn't do that again.

The facts are very clear. Since Madeline Vigar took over as headteacher at Castle Manor in 2003 and since the introduction of the grey room system, the national averages for English and maths at the college have improved. The GCSE A-C grades have improved and most importantly the Ofsted report was a triumphant document with some of the school's standards marked excellent. Places that are inhumane are places that are there to hurt and to cause harm to someone's life. The grey room is there to benefit the education of others but to assist in the learning of the offender.

All in all, it is a proven and effective way of disciplining young people and well done to Castle Manor for what they are continuing to do.

Liam Plumridge
Belvoir Court

Thanks for help on stairs

Sir, May I, through this Letters page, express my thanks to the young man who helped me down the stairs in Cinema 3 at the new Cineworld in Haverhill, after the early evening showing on Saturday. With all we hear these days about health and safety, I cannot understand how these stairs passed inspection, if indeed they were inspected. They are very steep and the treads extremely narrow. There is absolutely no supporting rail or posts for anyone slightly unsteady to hold on to. The backs of the seats are too low to give any assistance to anyone going up or coming down the stairs. I appreciate room is at a premium in this cinema but isn't health and safety more important in this situation?

I. Dempsey
Orkney Close
Haverhill

Paul Wilden, manager of Haverhill Cineworld, said all the cinemas had met building regulations. The gradient was steep, but this was to ensure that no-one's view was impeded and that as many people as possible could enjoy films. Staff were trained to provide any assistance requested by customers with mobility problems and would be happy to help anyone who had difficulty with the stairs.

Support the system

Sir, The team at Castle Manor have worked hard to bring the school standards up following a period of problems. It's a shame parents can't support the systems in place and realise the impact on every other child's learning when their child is persistently disruptive. Exclusion units are not meant to be pleasant. It is about giving the child time to reflect and think about why they are sitting there. If parents backed the school's policies and reinforced to their child that they are at school to learn and not to be disruptive, then the same message would be given to the child.

Taking the school to the High Court would be a sad waste of money that could be better spent on educating our children.

I am glad Castle Manor defended its policies as they are representing the hundreds of other children that do want to learn by doing so.

As an ex-student I am proud of the achievements that this school has made in recent years.

What about rights of others?

Sir, I read in horror that Patsy Meads believes that her son's human rights have been flouted by Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, but what about the human rights of all the other children who are in his classes and do want to learn and succeed in life?

Her son is 15 years old and should know how to behave in class, and if he does not wish to behave the exclusion rooms are an ideal way of dealing with his behaviour as he will be in a safe and controlled environment for the duration of his exclusion.

Mrs Meads also claims that the room is managed by a pub bouncer, which I do not see the problem with as bouncers are trained to deal with difficult behaviour effectively.

I hope that Mrs Meads is not claiming legal aid and wasting taxpayers' money as this case is absolutely ludicrous and a waste of everyone's time.

Hubble bubble a wizard's spell of toil and trouble

London Eye hosts spooky spells and wonderful wizardry this Halloween

This Halloween, from 18 October to 2 November, the London Eye is set to become an even more magical attraction, playing host to a wizard's mystical laboratory. What most people do not know about the London Eye is that it hides a dark side. The London Eye is in fact a secret portal through which dark forces can enter into London. Wizard Belvedere, the guardian of London town mixes potions, lotions and has notions in his laboratory at the base of the London Eye which ensure everyone in London is kept safe from these dark forces. However, a wicked witch has flown through the London Eye and has cast a forgetting spell on Wizard Belvedere allowing the portal to open at Halloween and Wizard Belvedere can't remember a single bit of magic.

To banish the wicked witch's curse forever, Wizard Belvedere is calling on all children to act as his Wizard Apprentices and cast a spell when they reach the top of the London Eye. The budding apprentices need to solve the clues to find the ingredients for the magic potion by completing the in-flight puzzle card.

For Wizard Apprentices that want to take to the skies and learn more about this secret untold London story, Secret Spell Flights provide the perfect opportunity. Whilst enjoying the breathtaking views, a Halloween commentary will unfold telling visitors exciting tales of trickery and sorcery. Children will also receive a Halloween goody bag full of magical surprises.

Now in its fourth year, the popular London Eye River Cruise also takes on a magical theme this Halloween, giving families the chance to learn about the mystical past of the capital city. On the Secret Spell Cruise passengers get to enjoy the views of the famous riverside landscape whilst the dusky sky line enhances the magical atmosphere. The 40 minute circular cruise along the River Thames includes a fascinating live commentary featuring tales of London's most iconic landmarks and the chance to cast the spell to help Wizard Belvedere.

For the ultimate spell-binding Halloween experience, take to the skies with the London Eye!

Chief checks on new works

BIOTECH firm Genzyme has received a flying visit to its Haverhill site from its US-based chairman and chief executive.

Henri A. Termeer held key discussions on developments and the long term strategy for the Haverhill site. The visit was also timed to coincide with the opening of new office facilities and a major refurbishment of the restaurant and reception areas.

Genzyme's Haverhill base has undergone a major investment programme in recent years. Growth in manufacturing capacity has led to the need for greater space for manufacturing and logistics support operations. More than 300 employees work there around the clock, every day of the year.

Mr Termeer said: "Once again I am impressed by the achievements and ongoing progress of Genzyme's Haverhill operations."

"As a key manufacturing and distribution centre in the UK, the Haverhill site is of strategic importance within the Genzyme corporation. In addition, Haverhill and the surrounding area continue to provide a supportive environment for the company's long-term growth."

"The work done at this facility through the talents, energy and dedication of each Genzyme employee, who constantly demonstrate great commitment to working together in a fast-changing atmosphere, helps ensure that we can continue to produce and deliver life-saving treatments to patients around the world."

The new facilities at Haverhill incorporate environmentally responsible and employee-friendly designs. "Green" features include infra-red sensors on taps and waterless urinals that use enzymes to control smells and reduce maintenance, both designed to save water.

Mark shares vision of promising career

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

MARK Allard is fast establishing himself as a successful video producer after his dissertation film screened at two film festivals – even before he graduated from university.

Mark's success is even more impressive considering he had to battle alcoholism and clinical depression to complete his studies in video production at Bucks New University. Mark, 21, graduated earlier this month with a BA in video production.

His dissertation film was a piece of fiction based around a dystopian view of the future which elaborates on the knife problems of today.

The nine-minute short film has been accepted at a film festival in Canada, and in a UK-based online event called Canned Film.

Speaking of his alcoholism and depression, Mark said: "I had already started my studies when I started having problems and the two things got interwoven."

"I got a lot of help from the university counselling service and eventually I got through it and became tee-total overnight."

Mark, of Lanseer Court, Haverhill, also gained a student volunteering award for a three-minute video he produced with fellow student, David Thorne, which helped to save the Micklefield Library in High Wycombe from closure.

He said: "I felt strongly that the library shouldn't close. We worked with Micklefield Matters, the charity which campaigned to save the library. We included vox pops in our video and kept it light-hearted. It was used in a bid by the charity for Lottery funding, and I was told afterwards that the video helped clinch it."

Mark is getting experience of commercial video-making through working for the High Wycombe-based Hazlemere Group and is also working for Cineworld, which opened a new cinema in Haverhill.

■ ON SHOW ... six artists will be featured.

Winter's best at art gallery

A HAVERHILL gallery is bringing together the cream of Suffolk artists for its winter show.

1st Floor Gallery, Lower Downs Slade, will feature works from Suffolk Open Studio artists Jill Hodgson, Madeleine Beck, Cyndi Speer, Elaine Dodsworth, Kevin Franks, Alan Noyes and Maureen Jordan from Saturday until December 24.

Jill Hodgson has displayed her plaster and paint creations since 2003 and has exhibited in various shows and galleries throughout Suffolk and Essex.

Madeleine Beck is a water colourist and has lived in Suffolk for 30 years and tackles a range of subjects.

Cyndi Speer attempts to attract peoples' attention by creating an image with more than one view point and visualising colour rather than realistically portraying it. For further information contact (01440) 762444 or email gary@garytheobald-art.com

The gallery is open on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons from 1-5pm, plus all day Saturday from 9am-4pm.

THROUGH their 10 years of rigorous touring, the Mugenkyo Taiko Drummers have developed a gritty, passionate style that is uniquely their own. Keeping the traditional spirit of taiko, yet creating a thoroughly contemporary sound, they are forging a new path with their innovative approach - thundering rhythms on huge Japanese drums plus delicate bamboo flutes and percussion. Come along to the Haverhill Arts Centre this Friday at 7.30pm and you'll be hooked!

■ The legendary cockney duo, Chas and Dave perform their greatest hits, including Rabbit, Ain't No Pleasing You, and Sideboard Song on Saturday at 7.30pm. Tickets for the arts centre gig are selling fast so be quick if you want a luv-verly evening with the cheeky chappies.

■ The programme for Sunday's Arnold Sinfonia Orchestral Concert, with Alexander Sitkovetsky on violin, includes Schubert's Overture in the Italian Style, Rubbra's A Tribute, Haydn's Symphony No 104 London and Beethoven's Violin Concerto. The concert starts at the arts centre at 7.30pm.

■ One of the UK's most popular keyboard entertainers, Brett Wales, has something for everyone, from light classical to country and western on at the arts centre next Tuesday at 7.30pm.

■ There's fun for children aged three and up at the arts centre next Wednesday at 2.30pm in the form of The Big Ugly Monster and The Little Stone Rabbit. These Colours present a wonderful tale of friendship and laughter, adapted from the book by Chris Wormell. Featuring the voice of Rik Mayall as the narrator, this is a hilarious, heart-warming story of an ugly monster with a beautiful heart.

■ The second performance of Elegy (15) is on Monday at 7.45pm. Starring Penelope Cruz and Ben Kingsley, the film is adapted from Philip Roth's novella, The Dying Animal, with Kingsley playing a professor who falls for Cruz, an intelligent and beautiful student.

■ The arts centre has a brilliant ticket deal for Wall-E (U), showing on Monday at 11am and 2.30pm, Wednesday at 7.45pm and Thursday at 11am and 2.30pm - they're just £3! The year is 2700 and Wall-E spends every day cleaning up the planet after everyone has left. But he soon discovers what he was truly meant for! Witty, profound and beautifully realised, the faint whiff of ET makes this the animated feature of the season.

■ Based on the bestselling biography by Amanda Foreman, The Duchess (12A) is an intelligent and compelling portrait of Georgiana, Duchess of Devonshire. From her doomed affair with Earl Grey to her complex ménage à trois with her husband and her best friend, a very contemporary tale of fame, notoriety and the quest for love. It screens next Thursday and Monday, November 3, to Wednesday, November 5, at 7.45pm.

Your stars with Russell Grant
Arts - Next - April
You have a golden opportunity to breathe new life into an old relationship. Cultivate intimacy by spending time with someone close to your heart and get back in touch with their hopes and fears. If you're single, you could meet someone at a work event.

There's a reason why a new person has entered your life. Perhaps this friend can show you how to laugh at your mistakes or venture into unfamiliar territory. Don't be intimidated by someone's superior knowledge.

You could be handed unfamiliar work duties so you're bound to make mistakes at first. Look at this as a chance to expand your skills base. If you keep a positive attitude, people will respect what you have to offer. Keep pushing forward.

Getting in touch with childish impulses can bring an important breakthrough. For the past few weeks, you've been busy suppressing your instincts for the sake of preserving the status quo. Now you're starting to see the old ways holding you back.

It's time to confront someone who has been creating conflict in your home life. The sanctity of your domestic sphere is at stake. Crossing a boundary with a relative or getting your own place will take a weight off your heart.

You're taking a second look at age old views and values. Some people will think you're flaky or unreliable, but that's because they've come to look to you for stability. Changing with the times makes you happier than staying preserved in amber.

Clearing your life of unnecessary clutter and junk should be your first priority. Spending more time on solitary pursuits can give you the balance you've always wanted. A child may reintroduce you to a hobby you had nearly forgotten.

There are lots of exciting opportunities this week, and you'll be able to take your pick. News of a pregnancy could be music to your ears. If you're going to be the proud parent, take heart. You'll rise to the challenge beautifully.

Lately, you've had too much on your plate. Retreating to a quiet corner will enable you to discover what really makes you happy. It may be time to cut back on work or take some vacation, even if it means losing money.

You'll have more time for friends this week, which comes as a relief. You've been so focused on work that you've lost touch with your favourite folk. Getting together for lunch and dinner will put you back in touch with your fun side.

Trying to discover why people want a particular product will be interesting. Once you realise what inspires people, it could lead to a raise or promotion. If you're looking for work, explore opportunities in medicine, research, or psychology.

A surprising offer could take you off the path you've been travelling for the past few months. At times, you will worry about losing everything you've worked for, but don't worry, you can only benefit from this fresh experience.

Time to bag a bargain?

In the midst of falling house prices, Samuel Cooke, Associate at Cheffins Estate Agents, tries to make sense of the numbers.

"One cannot fail to realise that house prices across the country have fallen. What remains difficult to judge on a local level is by how much they have dropped already and whether or not they will continue to do so.

But what can be said is that if you look carefully, there are some very appealing buys to be had, you just need do your research and know what you should be paying.

Take the latest Halifax suggestion that nationally prices have dropped by 12.4% over the last year: Last week we agreed a sale on a good size two bedroom flat in need of a little TLC at £71,000, a year ago these were being offered around at over £100,000, giving a drop of nearer 30%. Similarly last week, a four bedroom house with double garage was agreed at £195,000, a good 20% or so down from where it might have been last year. Both of these examples and many more show that, even in a subdued market, a shrewd buyer can get even more of a deal than the house price indexes might suggest.

On a buy-to-let basis, the very best return one might have hoped for last year was around 5-6%. Again using the example of the £71,000 flat, we actually had this very property securely tenanted last year at £495 per month, giving a gross yield of 8.4% at today's sale price. Add to that the fact that rental demand remains indefatigably high and the argument becomes stronger still.

But where does that leave someone trying to sell and buy on? That really depends on what you're trying to achieve, but it could be argued that now is a far better time to be moving up the housing ladder than right at the peak. Taking a drop of 15%-20% on a three bedroom house previously worth £160,000 might represent as much as £32,000, but if you save the same percentage back on a four bedroom detached house that was worth £250,000 you could be looking at £50,000 and actually be £18,000 better off than you would have been if you did the same deal last year.

Of course, it's easy to quote examples and much harder to make it work in real life. But at Cheffins we genuinely believe we've got a handle on this market and can get people moved in a way that still makes sense, despite all of what is going on. You may also be surprised to learn that some mortgage lenders are still crying out for business and that there are plenty willing to lend to the right people in the right circumstances.

I suppose, what we are saying is that the headlines don't tell the whole story, that the national media can't begin to grasp what is happening on a local basis and that for honest, practical advice on how to make this market work, you need to talk to your friendly local estate agent. Cheffins have been selling in this area since 1825 and, whilst I couldn't personally attest for whether this downturn is as bad as the depression of the 1930s, this is far from the first slump this firm has worked through and we have the learned experience to know what it takes to keep selling in this market.

I wouldn't expect a quick return to the housing market of the last 5 or 10 years, in which our houses have somehow managed to earn more than we have, but for those looking to buy a property to live in as a home and as a long term investment rather than short term cash cow, now could be as good a time as any.

What we can't do is predict the future, but in this market everyone needs the benefit of proper advice based on experience of the past."

Torquey diesel gives C2 edge

CITROEN knows a thing or two about diesels, as well as creating some fine hot hatches, so the arrival of the C2 VTS with HDi power should raise a smile or two.

The 1.6-litre HDi puts out 110bhp here, which is enough to power the C5 Tourer, so slotted into the comparatively featherweight C2 shell promises fun and games. However, the trump card of the C2 VTS HDi is the traditional diesel strong point: fuel economy, and plenty of it. The concept of a small hot hatch with a good turn of speed and the ability to rack up hundreds of miles on one tank has appeal.

It looks just like the petrol C2 VTS too, so that means a thoroughly modern shape that still looks fresh. The VTS model gains attractive alloy wheels and a subtle bodykit, enough to get you in the mood but not enough to get you on first name terms with the police. The C2 has a competition pedigree too, and any car that can cut it on a rally stage can just about handle the worst British B-roads.

Turn the key and the unmis-

ON TEST

Citroen hot hatch treat

takable sound of diesel greets you, but it's far from intrusive. Slot first gear and the strong torque is there from the start; getting under way requires very little effort, and in town driving the C2 retains its supermini attributes.

Get out of town and the C2 VTS continues to impress. Its size feels like an asset rather than a hindrance, and its general wildness is all the encouragement a keen driver will need.

There's fun to be had through the bends too. The C2 VTS is more stiffly sprung than the standard car, but that helps you stay connected to the road, and the short-geared steering joins in with the fun. It's robbed of a little feel due to its electric power assistance, but it is grippy, faithful and predictable, while the addition of ESP as standard helps ease any worries.

The C2's four-seat layout makes the most use of the available space. It also makes the small boot almost irrelevant – one or both rear seats fold to make more room.

The dashboard is suitably jazzy, with funky digital instruments, dashes of colour on the seats and doors and metal adorning the pedals and gearlever. Front seat occupants can revel in the space, but your mates in the back might want to consider keeping journeys on the short side. No matter though, because the C2 can wiggle into those tight parking spaces.

The C2 VTS HDi does without a screaming petrol engine and a crazy bodykit, but there should be reasons enough to consider it.

Basically

This is a modest performance car that offers a large dose of fun, but one that won't break the bank to buy and won't melt your plastic to ruin either. We could all do with a little parsimony, but why not have fun at the same time?

Car colours can hit resale values hard

AT a time like this, when money is tight, don't follow fashion when it comes to choosing a used car.

No-one knows just how long the credit crunch is going to last, or when the financial turmoil will bottom out, so it is not only important to choose a model that will still attract buyers in a couple of years' time, but also one in the right colour.

Following the latest fashions when choosing a car colour could cost owners dearly, warns the valuation experts at leading UK vehicle data-check firm HPI.

Although the fashion-conscious driver could be tempted by the latest in vogue exterior bodywork shades, this could impact the value of the vehicle when the time comes to sell it.

To keep sellers in the pink, and to avoid leaving prospective buyers green around the gills, HPI offers some words of wisdom.

"The main problem for buyers is choosing a colour that suits the car, as this can be a very important factor in deciding how much value it will retain," explains Alan Senior, HPI's used car valuations expert.

"Silver has become a favourite choice over recent years, but this means it could be out of favour for those wanting something different. Too many of the same models in the same colour can lead to over-saturation in the market.

"As with clothes, black is probably the safest option, as it always seems to find a buyer no matter what make or model.

"The latest trend for white is, in many ways, similar to yellow or bright green – you either love or hate it – so take this into consideration. Some colours work well on sporty models, but are bad news on larger saloons or hatchbacks."

Here, Senior lists main car colours and their merits:

■ Black – classic, timeless colour that suits all types of vehicle.

■ Silvers – second only to black, but there are too many cars around in the market in this colour. Champagne is a good alternative on premium models.

■ Blues – metallic is a must, with bright hues working well on sporty/GTi models, but are not good news on MPVs, hatchbacks and saloons, where medium-to-dark shades work better. Solid blues are okay on small hatchbacks and sports models, but dark blue is a real no-no.

■ Reds – Solid red is fine on small hatchbacks and sports/GTi models, but go for metallics on saloons and MPVs.

■ White – hailed as the new silver, but not nearly as universal. Suits sporty models and coupes, but has limited appeal on larger saloons and MPVs.

■ Greens – go for brighter shades on small hatchbacks and sporty/GTi models, but steer clear on everything else.

■ Yellows, purples and the rest – experiment at your own risk. Fine on small hatchbacks and sporty/GTi models, but hard to pull off on other models.

Seat aims upmarket as Exeo saloon is unveiled

SEAT has released more details of the recently unveiled Exeo.

The "upper medium class" saloon is scheduled for UK launch in the first half of 2009 and, in keeping with all other Seat models, is likely to offer excellent value for money.

With the size and shape bearing more than a passing resemblance to Skoda's new Superb, drivers should expect a similar ride quality – perhaps sharpened up a little to reflect Seat's brand image – and competitive levels of equipment.

Seat has confirmed that cruise control, dual zone climate control, USB connectivity and steering wheel mounted audio controls are all going to be featured on the Exeo.

Seat UK Exeo product manager James Buckell said: "In today's challenging market, we know car buyers are looking for the very best value possible and, to that end, are doing our utmost to make the forthcoming Exeo the class leader in terms of both price and equipment.

"The fitting of luxurious features such as dual zone climate control across the entire range, as well as convenience additions such as USB connectivity, underlines our determination to make our new saloon a particularly well-specified drive."

Prices and precise specs are yet to be released but will be made available closer to launch.

■ SEAT EXEO ... it will become the Spanish manufacturer's flagship model.

UK's best eco-cars rated

MOTORISTS wanting to turn green were this week given a guide to the top 100 eco cars.

And the Which? company, compilers of the environmentally-friendly vehicle list, said there had never been a better time to think green.

Which? rated the Ford Focus as the best green car for a family of four, while the Mini was the most fun green car to drive.

The other "green" awards were

■ FORD FIESTA ECONETIC ... scored highly.

as follows:

■ Best for a family of five or more: Volkswagen Golf Plus

■ Best Value: Ford Fiesta Econetic

■ Best for couples: BMW 1 Series

■ Best for £10,000: The Citroen C1, the Peugeot 107 and the Toyota Aygo

■ Best for £10,000-£15,000: Kia Cee'd

■ AUDI A6 ... top large car according to the 'Which?' green car list.

■ Best for £20,000-£25,000: BMW 3 Series

■ Best for £25,000 and above: Audi A6

■ Cheapest annual road tax: Ford Fiesta Econetic (£0)

■ Cheapest company car tax (20 per cent taxpayer): Kia Picanto 1.0 5-door

■ Best petrol green car: Toyota Prius (65.7 miles to the gallon)

■ Lowest annual fuel bill (driving 10,000 miles): Ford Fiesta Econetic

■ Best motorway economy: Audi A3 1.9 TDie and Mini Clubman 1.6D Cooper

■ Best town economy: Toyota Prius

■ Best overall economy: Fiat Panda 1.3 multijet diesel, Toyota Yaris 1.4D-4D, Volkswagen Polo BlueMotion 1

Which? said: "There is now so much choice, it's almost harder not to think green."

The company added that the ■ FIAT PANDA ... economy award winner.

vast majority of the 100 cars listed produced less than 150g of CO2 per km and half claimed to average more than 60 miles to the gallon.

"So there has never been a better time to be thinking green," it concluded.

Skoda Fabia gets a BlueLine edition

ŠKODA has just released a new special edition Fabia BlueLine, guaranteed to turn heads in the street and bring a smile to drivers who are in for a £750 treat of extra equipment at a price of just £160.

Based on the Fabia 2, this little blue wonder comes with unique Pacific Blue paint, white roof, 15 inch "Line" alloy wheels and lowered suspension, all of which add to the BlueLine's smart look.

Interior features over the Fabia 2 include "Magic" upholstery and climate control.

With a price tag of £9,990 for the 1.2 70bhp petrol engine and £11,450 for the 1.4 80bhp diesel unit, Skoda is releasing a car which is small on price and CO2 emissions but big on economy and value.

Warren Richards, product marketing manager at Skoda, said: "The BlueLine is a great looking car at an incredibly good price which offers a touch of individuality in the crowded supermini market.

"The Fabia BlueLine will only be available for a short period and limited to 500 cars."

Lots of surprises on the forecourts

BUYER advice website UsedCarExpert.co.uk says Britain's used car market is seeing some true bargains crop up in unexpected quarters.

The online outfit's editor, Matt Tumbridge, explains: "You don't see a Volkswagen depreciate heavily very often."

"And BMW 3 Series are always so popular, their prices stay firm if the car is looked after. But these are funny times just now, and there are bargains available on both marques."

"Study depreciation statistics and you can spot some serious bargains. When editing our sister magazine, I am always amazed at how buying a different year, or a slightly different speci-cation, can save thousands – because it makes depreciation work to the car buyer's advantage."

Tumbridge cites three such examples:

■ Renault Laguna: "This car is complicated, but safe and comfortable," he says. "All models have lots of equipment, but that also means there's more to go wrong. Plenty of used examples can be found on the British market and prices have been falling fast, so it is good value."

Most economical model, the 1.9 dCi, returns 50.4 mpg, and best used buy is the 2.0 16-valve Expression.

UsedCarExpert.co.uk lists 10 pre-buy checks, and prices a 2003 2.0 model at around £4,600,

■ COUGAR... value coupe from Ford's stable.

Used coupes can

BUYER advice website editor Matt Tumbridge has just tested Peugeot's 407 Coupe, and takes a look at comparable used buys.

"The Peugeot is a 2+2 coupe, but is as big as a saloon," says Tumbridge, of UsedCarExpert.co.uk. "I have always wondered why anyone would buy it, and now I know."

"It has distinctive looks, a great range of powerful engines and barrels down the motorway like a more impressive sports car, yet they are almost a giveaway when it comes to price."

"They are cheap new, and even the top-of-the-range model is only just over £25,000 – but used examples are almost a giveaway. A two-year-old version can be had for as little as £11,000."

If the 407 coupe isn't for you, then consider these great alternatives recommended by Tumbridge:

■ Alfa GT: "Imagine all the good things about the 156 saloon wrapped up in one of the sexiest skins seen on UK roads, and you have Alfa Romeo's GT," he says.

Most economical version is the 1.9 16-valve JTD, and best used buy is the 3.2-litre V6 model.

UsedCarExpert.co.uk buyers lists just seven fault checks, and prices a 2004 GT 1.9 JTD with average miles of 55,000 at around £9,875.

■ Ford Cougar: "This under-rated car, with its interesting styling comes with the Ford badge, which promises value," Tumbridge says. "It's a modern-day Ford Capri, which is gradually slipping out of sight – and that explains the now-lowering prices on the used-car scene."

Most economical model is the 2.0, and best used

MARTIAL ARTS

Haverhill club members rewarded for hard work

FIFTEEN members of the Haverhill Tang Soo Do Korean Martial Arts Club took part, along with more than 300 competitors from all over the United Kingdom, at the British International Tang Soo Do National Championships, held at Stevenage in front of 10th Dan Grand Master Kang UK Lee. A spokesman for the Haverhill instructors said: "The amount of medals won has not happened by accident, every student has been training exceptionally hard perfecting their forms and fighting for a long time, taking competing experience earned earlier in the year at the regional championships and really building on it."

"The club is a buzz with pride this shows the calibre of the students because they alone stepped up and set an even higher standard for others to follow.

"A big thank you to all the parents and spectators that travelled to support the club and students, it really made a difference."

"A huge well done to everyone that took part."

For anyone interested in trying out this traditional Korean martial art of self-defence, the club meets at:

■ Leiston Community Centre, Leiston Road, Haverhill, on Tuesdays, 7.15-9.15pm.

■ Samuel Ward Upper School gym, on Thursdays, 7-9pm.

The first lesson is free. Just come along in loose clothing and bring some water.

Young's hat-trick gives Rovers lift

HAVERHILL Rovers played their first Cambs Colts League, Division 16C match for three weeks and notched up a 7-1 win at NST Strikers.

They got off the mark when a great header from Edwards was well finished by Young, who scored their second five minutes later.

Rovers were then awarded a penalty, which Bayester converted before Young completed his hat-trick with an 18-yard strike.

NST scored on the break, but substitute Rogers and a brilliant header from Edwards completed the scoring.

■ A last-minute goal from Ben

Robinson secured all three Division 16B points for Hundon Hawks with a 2-1 win over Ely Crusaders.

Hawks took an early lead through Lewis Brown and missed a hatful of chances as Crusaders drew level with a lobbed goal.

■ Grampian Gunners shared a 3-3 draw last season's champions Somersham Town in Division 15A.

They went ahead after five minutes through Brown and keeper Baldwin made a fine save to keep them in front.

On the stroke of half time, a mistake let in the visitors for the equaliser.

The second half saw the home side dominate for the first 20 minutes. But Somersham scored twice in five minutes to lead 3-1.

Halls reduced the arrears before Brown slammed home a deserved equaliser.

■ Grampian Gunners A beat Steeple Bumpstead Dynamos A 4-0 in a Cambs Mini League, Division 10A fixture.

The first 15 minutes of this derby was keenly contested until Dynamos conceded an own goal, which seem to lift the Gunners, who dominated the rest of the half with Woodley scoring with a free kick.

Webb added a third with a great shot before half time and it was left to Thompson to complete the scoring with a fine finish late on.

Three-goal Aaron is striker in a hurry

ARRENDENE produced a stunning first half display to record their first league win of the season.

Athletic dominated the opening exchanges, and took the lead after 10 minutes gone when Liam Botten's pinpoint cross was converted by Aaron Stiebrins, who soon added a second from Paul Hunt's pass.

And Stiebrins completed his

Athletic added a fourth, and virtually ended the contest, just before the break when Jake Hickey's corner found the head of defender Ben Fisher, who nodded home.

After the interval, Athletic continued to look for more goals with both captain Matt McBrien and Luke Jobson going close. The home side pulled one goal back after a defensive mix-up, but Athletic never looked stretched after that.

GOLF

Medal joy for Joe and Eamon

SUNDAY'S competition at Haverhill Golf Club was the C A B. Edwards' Greensome, which is a medal round. Leading the field home was Joe Davis and Eamon Bareham, who finished at four under par and were two shots ahead of Robert Scott and Russell Gitty.

The pair in third spot on countback were Gordon Price and Stewart King.

Leading scores: Davis/Bareham 66, Scott/Gitty 68, Price/King, McComb/Plotrowski 69, Cohen/Firman, Craig/Whiting, Baird/Kiddle 70, Chandler/Ashcroft, Daniels/Rooper, Hepworth/Armstrong, Palmer/Thomson 71, Fish/Penman, Tatum/Eldred 72, Ward/Rand, Wilkins/Pipe, Cracknell/Vince 73, Jones/Bennett, Driscoll/Bradham 74.

■ Two club matches were played during the week and both were at home. Haverhill ladies drew 2-2 against Newmarket, whilst a senior mixed team lost to Braintree 5½-3½.

RUGBY UNION

■ WILD ABOUT HARRY ... Haverhill U14 captain Harry Marsh expertly catches a line-out ball during the encounter with their Saffron Walden counterparts.

Jury ensures Haverhill get verdict

HAVERHILL U14 amassed 27 points in the first 20 minutes to secure victory over their Saffron Walden counterparts.

Early tries from Sam Daly and Dom Farnell were followed up when Callum Fletcher-Brown picked up a loose Walden ball before passing as he took the tackle for Francis Poulton to push over to score. After another Farnell try, Tom Jury made a textbook tackle as the Haverhill forwards formed a solid defence.

This resulted in a turnover, allowing Ollie Edwards to execute a perfect break for Jury to finish off between the posts.

UNDER-14 CLUB MATCH

Walden slowly got stronger and gained the upper hand to grab two tries and a conversion. However, their scoring rate was not fast enough as Haverhill doggedly defended their goalline with some excellent tackling. The Walden scrum was the stronger outfit, but Haverhill hooker Poulton won countless strikes against the head as his team held out for a deserved victory.

TABLE TENNIS

Tony and Maria do the trick

HAVING lost to St Ives II the previous week, Haverhill returned to form with a creditable 5-5 draw against last season's runners-up St Ives in Division One of the Cambridge and District League.

Simon Pryke, one of the division's most able players, recorded a straight forward maximum for St Ives, and Mark Fisher also beat Rob Cushen.

However, two wins each for Maria Bolton and Tony Reardon for Haverhill ensured the points were shared.

In Division Two, Haverhill II recorded a 9-1 victory over St Ives III, while, in Division Three, Haverhill II went down 7-3 away to CIBA.

Results – Division One: St Ives II 9 Cambridge II 1, Impington 3 St George's 7, St Ives 5 Haverhill 5.

Division Two: Haverhill II 9 St Ives III 1, St George's III 5 Impington II 5, Cambridge III 7 NCI III 3, St George's II 6 St George's III 4, Stapleford II 8 NCI II 2, Soham II 3 St Neots 7.

Division Three: CIBA 7 Haverhill III 3, Impington III 8 Soham III 2.

Division Four: Sawston 8 St George's IV 2, St Ives VI 9 Impington VI 1, St Ives V 4 Impington IV 6, NCI IV 6 Impington V 4, Bassingbourn 4 St George's IV 6.

FOOTBALL: LATEST NEWS FROM HAMLET CROFT

Rovers make their cup exit

■ CRAIG CUTTS ... had best chance for Rovers.

HAVERHILL Rovers bowed out of the Ridgeons League Challenge Cup when they went down to near-neighbours Saffron Walden at Hamlet Croft on Tuesday evening.

Substitute Brad Green nabbed the winner as the Bloods triumphed 1-0 in extra time.

The forward came off the bench and saw his rising shot fly over Rovers' keeper Ed Campbell and into the net after 103 minutes.

Haverhill had the better of the first period, with two good chances falling to forward Craig Cutts.

First he saw a powerful drive well saved by Walden goalkeeper Anthony Choat, before he rounded the shot-stopper and had his goalbound effort parried by the recovering keeper.

The Bloods forced their way into the contest after the interval and young winger Mitchell Das cut inside before dragging his shot wide of the upright.

Cutts went close again at the other end, before Walden's Tom Richardson should have done better with a header inside the box six minutes from the end of normal time.

■ Haverhill earned a useful point from their goalless draw against fellow Ridgeons League, Premier Division strugglers Norwich United at Blofield on Saturday.

Rovers were dealt a blow when Paul Abbott limped off with a twisted knee after just five minutes, but they had chances to score in the first half, with Neil Cogger twice going close with long-range efforts.

Stuart Kingham saw a header and a 25-yard drive both narrowly miss the target, while Ryan Kent had a shot parried by the keeper after a storming run from Cogger on the stroke of half time.

Sam Holmes, Cogger and substitute Harry Halls all saw efforts go well wide in the second half.

Meanwhile, Kent saw his blast towards the near post pushed behind late on as Haverhill failed in their bid to break the deadlock.

■ Rovers will be looking to pick up vital points in a double helping of league action over the coming week.

On Saturday, Tiptree United are the visitors to Hamlet Croft. The Jammers, who are currently lying 15th in the table, have won only once on their travels this season.

Rovers will again be at home on Tuesday evening when eighth-placed Stanway Rovers are the scheduled visitors.
